

RESEARCH SEMINARS 2017-18

CEPA coordinates a variety of research programmes which investigate issues ranging from early years to higher and lifelong education, from philosophy of education to teacher education. As with the University as a whole, CEPA has a strong commitment to social justice and social activism.

18 October	Why has research informed teaching become popular in UK universities?: A historical analysis of higher education policy from the 1960s to the present. Dr Joseph Maslen, Liverpool Hope University.	2-3.30pm EDEN013
29 November	Report launch - Education, Safeguarding and Securitisation: Recommendations for effective multi-agency working for Prevent in schools". Dr David Lundie, Liverpool Hope University.	2-3.30pm EDEN041
17 January	Rewiring education: Building data infrastructure in schools and school systems. Dr Sam Sellar, Manchester Metropolitan University.	2-3.30pm EDEN013
14 February	Philosophical presentations of raising children: a critical engagement with "parenting". Stefan Ramaekers (KU Leuven), Dr Naomi Hodgson, Liverpool Hope University.	2-3.30pm EDEN 013
21 March	Alternative Student perspectives of/from students. What do we assume about the student experience, and what else don't we know? Professor Nic Whitton, Manchester Metropolitan University/Dr Richard Budd (Liverpool Hope University)	2-3.30pm EDEN013
25 April	Migrant Academics and Professional Learning Gains: Perspectives of the Native Academics. Prof Ian Minchin (University of Surrey), Dr Anesa Hosein (University of Surrey) and Dr Namrata Rao (Liverpool Hope University).	2-3.30pm EDEN041

Affiliate of the International Association for Qualitative Enquiry

<http://cepa.hope.ac.uk/>

CEPA

Centre for Education and Policy Analysis
Liverpool Hope University

Affiliate of the International Association for Qualitative Enquiry

<http://cepa.hope.ac.uk/>